

Spring Cleaning at the Residences of the World Trade Centre

With the coming of spring comes the urge to purge. Where to put it all?

If you would like to get rid of old clothing and shoes, we remind you that we have placed a clothing donation box on the ground level in the recycling room. Not only will you be cleaning out your closets, but you will be lending a helping hand to those in need.

Are you ready to part with old books, magazines or newspapers? Please deposit them straight into the blue bins located in the refuse rooms on each floor. If you are placing large quantities out for recycling, we would greatly appreciate a "heads up" here in the Management Office to ensure that bins are emptied promptly. Please give us a call at (416) 362-1222.

Buying new appliances? We hope that you have opted for appliances with the "Energy Star" label as these appliances are much more energy efficient and will help the Board of Directors meet their ambitious energy conservation goals. Please ask your appliance supplier to haul away your old appliances.

Are you torn about throwing away items because some things that are no longer of use to you still seem to be in good condition? Have you considered donating to worthy charities such as Goodwill, the Canadian Diabetes Association or the Salvation Army?

Looking to make some extra money on some of those gently used gems? Consignment shops will be pleased to accept good used furniture and clean clothing in good condition.

Please note that the Board of Directors urges you to recycle toxic waste such as batteries, compact fluorescent bulbs, old paint cans etc. Please bring these items to the Management Office and we will be pleased to have them removed to the Hazardous Waste Depot on your behalf.
